

ATTENTION PVCA STUDENTS AND PARENTS!

AUTHOR VISIT—JIM PETIPAS “THE COWS GO MOO!”

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 15, 2021

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Jim Petipas has always loved cows! Besides loving cows, he has always enjoyed drawing. When he was little his parents regularly brought him to the library where he would check out books mostly on how to draw cars and animals. Today Jim works as an adolescent counselor and previously as a youth pastor. Jim is also a musician. That’s him singing lead vocal, playing drums and cowbell (of course) on “The Cows Go Moo” song! He lives just north of Boston with his wife, Beth, two daughters, Olivia and Sophia, and his dog, Earl. The Cows Go Moo! is his first children’s book. Jim is working on his second book in the series entitled, “The Cows Go Moo Shuffle!” He also hopes to write and illustrate a graphic novel telling the life story of his father entitled, “Jimmy Bojanagles: The Prodigal Dad.” Look for Jim this summer at book signings, open-air markets, libraries, dairy farms, bookstores, and this fall in school classrooms sharing his book, song, and message that you can achieve anything at any age with determination, hard work, and encouragement from those around you! Join the Moovement!

ABOUT THE EVENT

Jim Petipas, the author and illustrator, of The Cows Go Moo! is coming to PVCA on Friday, October 15th. Students will listen to Jim read/sing The Cows Go Moo!, learn the song and dance mooooves, and take a group picture together at the end of the assembly.* *

In the spirit of the event, your child may dress-up in a cow costume, black and white clothes, cow print shirts/sweatshirts/pants, etc.

\*Grades four and five will have a slightly different presentation. They will hear Jim’s testimony and learn about the book writing and illustrating process.*
